MADE THE TRIP IN JUST 101
HOURS, 50 MINUTES FROM FRIEDRICHSHAFEN

SAFELY IN TOKIO HANGAR IN 40 MINUTES AFTER IT HAD LANDED

By MILES VAUGHN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Tokio, Aug. 19.—The second leg of the longest, most perilous flight ever attempted in the history of aviation came to a triumphant end this afternoon when the giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin alighted at the Kasumigaura airport near here after a 6,600-mile non-stop flight through the uncharted skies of northern Asia.

Carrying 20 passengers, a crew of 40 and Germany's ambitious hopes in commercial aviation, the mighty air liner officially landed here at 6:25 P. M. (4:25 A. M. EST.), just 101 hours and 50 minutes after she started from Friedrichshafen for the second leg of her flight around the world. She left Friedrichshafen at 10:35 P. M. EST. Wednesday.

The Graf Zeppelin was safely in the hangar at 7:05 P. M. (5:05 A. M. EST.) 40 minutes after it had landed. Darkness hindered the maneuvering of the big silver bag slightly and automobile lights were brought into play to aid in putting the huge air traveler to rest.

The Graf had been in the air 101 hours and 50 minutes, thus completing another record-breaking trip, perhaps improving on the cross-Atlantic flight she made between Lakehurst, N. J., and Friedrichshafen on the first leg of the globe-girdling journey.

The time made by the huge dirigible was far better than even Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the flight, had expected, for before setting out on the flight the commander had stated that he expected to make the trip in 120 hours if conditions favored.

The territory covered by the Graf never before had been traversed by a dirigible. Little was known of meteorological conditions along the route. Even the Soviet savants could furnish but meager information about weather conditions. Dr. Eckener virtually had to explore the whole route and map out his own lanes. In aviation circles here Dr. Eckener's feat was regarded as one of the outstanding bits of pioneering recorded in aviation history.

The reception was the most wildly enthusiastic ever received by the Graf, long accustomed to enthusiastic receptions after history-making flights.

The launching field was crowded with thousands of persons and the areas outside the field were packed with many thousands of others. Some of the people waited throughout the night and through the long hours of the day.

They were bivouacked, camplike, for a long distance around the field. They did not mind the rain which fell through the early hours of morning. They were oblivious to everything except the news which was broadcast throughout the country that the Graf was over Japan.

New hundreds continued to arrive throughout the day and to swell the already huge crowd which was in the vicinity. The streets of the city also were filled and the squares were the gathering places for other thousands. The whole city was in a turmoil and the only conversation was about the great airship which was coming from the west.

The first sighting of the ship was a signal for a frenzied outburst of cheering. The whole city united into one great chorus of shouting, cheering, tumultuous applause. Whistles and sirens added to this as the dirigible approached the field and the noise increased. The excitement was so great that the hundreds of newspapermen who had gathered resorted to the use of carrier pigeons.

A committee of city officials arrived at the field early in the day to perform the ancient ceremonies which signify the departure or arrival of victorious warriors, including the presentation of wine, dried chestnuts, dried cuttlefish and cold rice, a feat for the gods of victory.

The Graf had the most difficult time of its long and hazardous journey in the rain and fogs over Sakhalin Island. But in spite of everything the Graf maintained a steady pace and never wavered from its route.

Once off Japan's mainland the Graf took a steady course southward direct to Tokio, avoiding, however, the fortified sections, as requested by the Japanese government.

The next leg of the flight is from Tokio to Los Angeles, across the Pacific.

Dr. Eckener hoped to have the ship in condition for departure by Thursday.

Commander Hugo Eckener had wireless in advance that he hoped to leave Tokio at daybreak Thursday for Los Angeles, continuing his flight around the world. When the Zeppelin landed here, it had completed much more than half of its journey, having flown approximately 10,800 miles from Lakehurst, N. J., its starting and finishing point. From Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen, the airship covered approximately 4,200 miles, and from

FRISCO 'OIL FIELD SPECIAL' WRECK KILLS 14

Henryetta, Okla., Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—An official investigation was conducted here today into the death of 14 persons and serious injury of 8 others caused by derailment of three all-steel cars of the Frisco's "Oil Field Special" yesterday when the train crashed through an open switch.

Twelve of the fourteen killed were negroes. They were burned to death by steam which filled the jim crow bar. Two members of the train crew, the engineer and the fireman, were killed instantly and their bodies buried under the overturned locomotive.

Railroad detectives and officials said today they believed the switch had been thrown deliberately. The lock could not be found. Jim Stormont, county sheriff, took fingerprints off the switch.

No arrest has been made.

SPOKANE SUN GOD ARRIVES AT ST. PAUL

CROSS COUNTRY ENDURANCE SHIP OVER HOUR AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

IMMEDIATELY BEGINS TO TAKE ON FUEL AT MUNICIPAL AIRPORT

St. Paul, Aug. 17.—(U.P.)—The cross country endurance ship, Spokane Sun God, arrived over the municipal airport here at 1:25 P. M. today, more than an hour ahead of schedule, and immediately began to take on fuel.

Nick Mamer, who with Art Walker, is piloting the Sun God on her projected Spokane to New York and return flight, dropped two messages here, one to Frank Geng, airport master, the other to Vern Bookwalter, who is in charge of the refueling ship. "Hello, Frank, I'm sure glad to be back here again," the former Minnesota pilot said. "I'm sorry we can't stay longer. Will see you another time."

The note to Bookwalter said: "Be sure and send up a map of Minnesota and let's get well up for the refueling contact. The air is fairly smooth at 4,000 feet. Let's make time."

On the first contact Bookwalter took up 100 gallons of gasoline and 10 gallons of oil.

STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR MEETS AT MANKATO TODAY

47TH ANNUAL CONVENTION OP- ENS THERE, 265 DELE- GATES PRESENT

PRESIDENT HALL AND OFFICERS MAKE THEIR ANNUAL REPORT

Mankato, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Attended by 265 delegates the Minnesota Federation of Labor convened here today for its 47th annual convention.

The delegates were welcomed to Mankato by Mayor Frank Mahowald. President E. G. Hall, Minneapolis, and other officers made their regular annual reports.

Hall, who has been an officer of the federation for 18 years, was presented with a trophy by the Mankato labor men.

When officers are elected Tuesday Hall undoubtedly will be chosen to head the organization for another year, while George Lawson, St. Paul, is likewise slated to be re-named secretary.

MARKHAM WINS FARM BOARD PUBLICITY POST

Washington, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Edgar Markham, Washington correspondent of the St. Paul Pioneer Press-Dispatch, was appointed assistant to the chairman of the federal farm board in charge of publicity.

Friedrichshafen to Tokio another 6,600.

The second longest stage will be the 5,530 miles from Tokio to Los Angeles, across the Pacific. From Los Angeles another 3,054 miles must be flown to Lakehurst. With favorable weather, Dr. Eckener should have circumnavigated the globe in another ten days, or a total of 22 days.

If he accomplishes the feat, Dr. Eckener will just barely have set a new record for circumnavigation, John H. Nears and Capt. C. B. D. Collier having gone around in 23 days and 15 hours last year.

Chinese Mass Troops Along Peiping-Mukden Railway to Stem Soviet Invasion in West

CHINA CALLS WAR CONFERENCE OF GENERALS

NANKING AND MUKDEN MILI- TARY AUTHORITIES TO MEET TOMORROW

MANCHURIAN FORCES MOBILIZ- ED TO FULL WAR STRENGTH, 150,000 MEN

Peiping, China, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Extensive Chinese troop movements were begun along the Peiping-Mukden railway today following reports that Soviet troops had invaded western Manchuria.

The situation was regarded with such seriousness that the Nanking and Mukden military authorities have called a war conference, to be held in Mukden tomorrow.

Although foreign representatives here were inclined to believe that the Mukden reports of a red army invasion were exaggerated, they confirmed the persistent rumors of border clashes between the Soviet and Chinese forces concentrated on the Siberian-Manchurian frontier.

Mukden, Manchuria, Aug. 19.—Mobilization of Manchuria's full war strength, estimated at 150,000 men, was reported ordered today by the military commanders of the district following the receipt of news that Russia's red army invaded the country from the west and continued to march on to the interior.

An official communique issued by the Mukden government said that a large force of Soviet troops had begun the long-threatened invasion of Manchuria and continued to march on with the apparent intention of isolating Manchuria. It said that two towns in the vicinity of Manchuria were occupied.

Mukden, Manchuria, Aug. 19.—Russian troops occupied Tungning, opposite Vladivostok, on Sunday morning, an official communique announced today.

The Russians began a bombardment of Suifenho, which was threatened, the communique said. Fighting continued near Manchuria, on the other side of Manchuria, the announcement

BRITISH FLIER IN SPEED TEST MAKES 340 MILES AN HOUR

Calshot, England, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—A speed of 340 miles an hour was attained today by Flying Officer Atcherley, member of the British Schneider cup team, in a test for the coming international seaplane competition, experts estimated.

Atcherley flew a Gloster-Napier 4 over the Schneider cup course.

Shanghai, Aug. 19.—Dispatches from Manchurian points continue to pour into Shanghai and Nanking, telling of border clashes between Soviet and Chinese troops but confirmation is still lacking and admittedly embarrassing to the government.

Whether true or false, these reports are lessening the prospects for peaceful settlement of the dispute over the Chinese Eastern railway. Many here believe the government is being placed in a position where it must open negotiations with the Soviets or prepare for war.

Added to the unconfirmed reports of minor battles, are dispatches telling of mobilization of Manchuria's troops. However, there is a prevalence of "paper orders" incapable of immediate fulfillment which local observers accept with reserve.

Meanwhile there is no indication here or in Nanking that war is desired but there are signs conflict will be unavoidable unless the Nanking government adopts a more definite attitude. At present Manchuria appears to be working independently.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Fifty Chinese soldiers were killed Saturday in a border clash with Soviet troops, according to an official Chinese telegram transmitted to the state department today by Myrl S. Meyers, American consul at Mukden, Manchuria.

The official Chinese telegram from Tsitsihar, said 10,000 Soviet troops with 30 field pieces and machine guns crossed the border and attacked between Manchuria and Chailanor. Semi-official reports in Mukden said the Chinese were sending 40,000 troops north, half to the western and half to the eastern front, Meyers said.

CARRYING ON MAN-HUNT FOR GIRL'S SLAYER

ALMOST WEEK GONE SINCE DOR- OTHY AUNE WAS KILLED AND FEW CLUES FOUND

Minneapolis, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Almost a week after the mutilated body of 12-year-old Dorothy Aune was found wrapped in burlap sacks and thrown into a street gutter here, police today still carried on the man-hunt for her slayer.

Three men, including Albert Mullenbauer, giant 31-year-old cobbler, were held for questioning, but only the shoemaker had a formal charge against him. He was accused of an indecent assault on the complaint of a 13-year-old girl in the Aune neighborhood.

Two other men, one said to be a narcotic addict, were sought. Public interest in the case which flamed intensely after two ice men found the body of the mistreated school girl early Wednesday, apparently lessened somewhat today much to the gratification of police.

"There has been a great deal of excitement over this tragedy," Chief of Police Harry C. Lindholm said, "which has somewhat impeded the efforts of police and detectives."

"As this feeling subsides I am sure the clues we have will lead us to the man we want. There will be no let-down in our search. We shall keep up the hunt until the murderer is brought to justice."

The army of officers who have worked almost night and day since Wednesday today had a list of names of Dorothy's friends and acquaintances, all of whom were to be interviewed.

ST. PAUL POLICE SEARCH FOR NEEDLES

St. Paul, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—St. Paul police today began an actual hunt for needles in the proverbial haystack. The needles, 175,000 of them, were stolen from a thread company.

TWO SWISS FLIERS CROSSING ATLANTIC TO NEW YORK

Lisbon, Portugal, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Two young Swiss fliers, Oskar Kaeser and Kurt Guescher, soared away into a gray western sky at 3 a. m. (8 a. m. EST) today, bound for New York in the first attempt to put Switzerland upon the records of trans-Atlantic aviation achievements.

The youthful fliers' plane, "Young Switzerland," made an ideal takeoff under the expert handling of Kaeser from Ucel flying field and headed directly westward. A half hour after the plane's wheels left the earth it had been swallowed up in the horizon.

Kaeser told the United Press immediately before the takeoff that he planned to fly over the Azores.

Weather conditions were favorable.

WOMEN'S AIR DERBY UNDER WAY TODAY

ROAR AWAY INTO DAWN FROM SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF.

HEAD OVER MOUNTAINS AND DESERT TOWARD YUMA, ARIZONA

San Bernardino, Calif., Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Roaring away into the dawn from federal airport here, the flyers in the women's Santa Monica-to-Cleveland air derby headed their planes today toward the high peaks of the San Bernardino range and out over the desert on their long hop to Yuma, Ariz., their first stopping place.

First off was Vera Dawn Walker in a Curtiss Robin, who took off at 6:40 A. M., Pacific Standard time. She was followed by Mrs. Keith Miller at 6:12 A. M. in a Fleet airplane; Neva Paris in another Curtiss Robin at 6:16; Amelia Earhart, trans-Atlantic flyer, in a Lockheed Vega monoplane at 6:16 and Opal Logan Kunz in her Travelair at 6:18.

Miss Kunz, who broke a fitting on her landing gear yesterday, was off to a good start today, after mechanics had worked most of the night to prepare her ship for the desert flight.

Tonight's stop-over will be made at Phoenix, Ariz.

SENATE MEETS AND RESUMES ITS SESSIONS

UNDER GENTLEMEN'S AGREE- MENT NO BUSINESS TO BE TRANSACTION TILL SEPT. 4

BITTER FIGHT EXPECTED IN COMMITTEE ACTION PUTTING MANGANESE ON FREE LIST

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 19.—After a two months' mid-summer recess to allow the finance committee to prepare the tariff bill, the senate reconvened today, resuming the extraordinary session called by President Hoover for farm relief and tariff revision.

Arriving senators found the long drawn out dispute among republican leaders over how high the new rates should go had prevented the committee finishing the bill. The rates were to be handed over to the democrats while the committee resumed executive sessions to write administrative features of the measure.

Under a gentleman's agreement between republican and democratic floor leaders no business is to be transacted by the senate until September 1 when, it is believed, the bill will be completed and in shape for senate consideration.

The principal dispute will come over the sugar rate. The house raised the present law, 1.75 cents a pound on Cuban sugar, to 2.40 cents a pound. Estimates as to what this will cost the consumer have ranged all the way from $50,000,000 to $300,000,000 a year. The senate committee decreased the house duty to 2.20 cents a pound but the reduction has failed to have any pacifying influence upon either the democrats or republican opponents of the high duty.

Other long and perhaps bitter fights are expected over the committee action in putting manganese ore used to manufacture steel on the free list, over the return of shingles to the free list, retention of the duties upon cement and bricks, raising the rate nearly 300 per cent on woolen rags and retaining the house rate of 10 per cent on hides.

As it comes from the committee, the bill is a reduction generally from the house rates. The chemical schedule is lower, the woolen schedule is somewhat lower and downward adjustments were made on other commodities with the exception of agricultural products which were materially increased.

3 DEATHS IN MILL CITY, CAR FALLS INTO RIVER

AUTOMOBILE CRASHED 70 FEET INTO MISSISSIPPI RIVER FROM 10TH STREET BRIDGE

4 MEMBERS OF FLYGARE FAMILY OF FERGUS FALLS KILLED IN CAR COLLISION

Minneapolis, Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Nine Minnesotans were dead today and several others were in serious condition after tragic automobile crashes in Minneapolis and Montevideo, a lesser mishap in St. Paul, and after a child was drowned in Lake of the Isles.

Three of the deaths occurred in Minneapolis when an automobile crashed 70 feet into the Mississippi river from the Tenth Avenue bridge and the occupants drowned and four others occurred near Montevideo when the car of a Fergus Falls family collided with a Minneapolis machine.

William Storey, 27, and Carl Anderson, 26, occupants of the automobile which was asserted to have crashed with the death car here, were detained for questioning.

The dead were: Charles T. Tracey, 42, Minneapolis. Clarence W. Score, 30, Minneapolis. Ludwig J. Forsbeck, 32, Minneapolis. August Flygare, about 38, Fergus Falls.

Stanley Flygare, 11. John Flygare, 8. Lyle Flygare, 2. James Stewart, 4, drowned in Lake of the Isles.

Patrick Quinlan, 55, fatally injured. The Tenth Avenue bridge crash occurred about 9 P. M. Saturday. The two cars which collided were going in opposite directions and the one driven by Tracey smashed through the railing and fell 70 feet into ten feet of water. It was several hours before the bodies were recovered.

The collision in which four members of the Flygare family met death and in which Mrs. Flygare and her 5-year-old son Robert were seriously injured, happened on Sunday about 20 miles north of Montevideo.

The Flygares were on their way to Winthrop to visit relatives, when their car collided with that in which five Minneapolis men were riding to South Dakota. The men escaped with minor injuries.

A coroner's inquest into the accident was held today.

FOUR LOSE LIVES WHEN HOME MADE SPEED BOAT FOUNDERS

Madison, Wis., Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Four persons lost their lives when a home made speed boat equipped with an automobile motor blew up and sank today in Lake Mendota.

Campers on shore said four men and a boy started out in the boat. A few minutes later they heard an explosion and saw the occupants of the boat struggling in the water.

The first bodies recovered were identified as those of Leslie Davidson, owner of the craft, Carl Scheller, and Paul and Walter Burgisser, brothers.

NATIONAL GUARD TO KEEP ORDER AMONG STRIKERS

Marion, N. C., Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Two companies of North Carolina national guard were enroute here today to keep order among strikers at the Clinchville textile mill.

The troops were ordered out by Governor O. Max Gardner in response to a request from Sheriff Oscar Adkins of Marion County, his college girl inmates, was postponed today until 9:30 a. m. tomorrow to give defense counsel more time to prepare for the hearing.

The motion alleges, among other things, that the jury which convicted Snook "was actuated by the spirit of the mob" and that two of the jurors "were unduly influenced."

The jury's verdict made imposition of the death sentence mandatory.

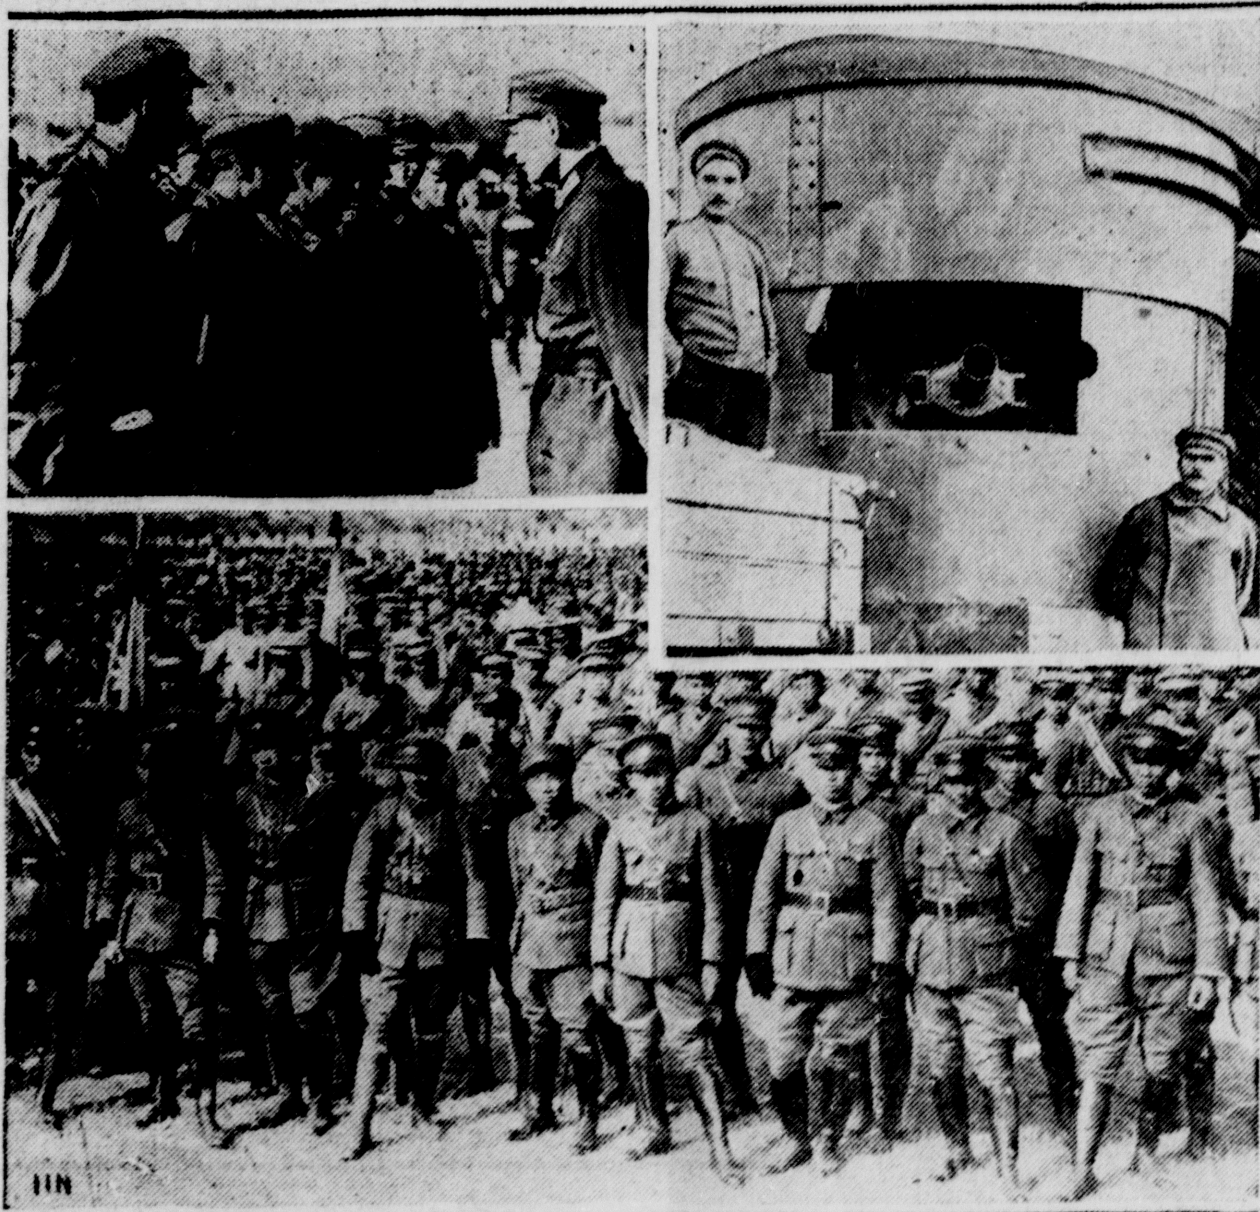

SNOOK PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL POSTPONED

Columbus, O., Aug. 19.—(U.P.)—Hearing on the motion for a new trial for Dr. James Howard Snook, convicted of murdering Theora Hix, his college girl inmate, was postponed today until 9:30 a. m. tomorrow to give defense counsel more time to prepare for the hearing.

The motion alleges, among other things, that the jury which convicted Snook "was actuated by the spirit of the mob" and that two of the jurors "were unduly influenced."

The jury's verdict made imposition of the death sentence mandatory.

Manchurian War Clouds Threaten Peace

Latest advices from the Far East indicate the complete breakdown of a diplomatic settlement of the Chinese-Russian controversy and the seriousness of the situation is unquestioned. Russian aviators of the type seen in the upper left hand corner are already active along the Manchurian border, while armored trains such as shown above, will transport troops to the front. The Chinese army has also been active and is well trained. Pictured below are a number of staff officers of the nationalist forces who may see additional fighting after long years of civil warfare.

200 HEAR TALK ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

James G. Rowell, C. S., of Kansas City, Mo., Lectured at Elks Hall in This City

ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Mr. Rowell is a Member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship

Two hundred people on Sunday afternoon heard the lecture of James G. Rowell, C. S., of Kansas City, Mo., on Christian Science, The Way of Salvation Through Christ. Mr. Rowell is a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, in Boston, Mass. He said in part:

Everyone believes in some cause or creator of the universe of which he finds himself a part. Christians, those who trust Christ Jesus as their Way-shower, accept Scriptural authority for thinking of the first great cause or creator as God, as Spirit, Life, Truth and Love. As the fruit of years of consecrated study of the Bible in its spiritual import, Mrs. Eddy gave to hungering humanity the inspired scientific definition of God found on page 465 of Science and Health, "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love." A few lines farther on she tells us that these are synonymous terms and are "intended to express the nature, essence, and wholeness of Deity."

We note in this definition that God is incorporeal. Jesus defined God thus when he said, "God is a Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." In the year 1530 there was written by "the gentle Malancthon" and approved by Luther what is known as the Augsburg Confession of Faith. In it God was expressly defined as incorporeal. This same truth was later re-stated in the Westminster Confession of 1617, which clearly set forth the views of John Calvin, the great reformer. The Westminster confession reads in part, "There is but one living and true God who is infinite in being and perfection, a most pure spirit, invisible, without body, parts or passions."

Where but in the mist of falsity could have originated the belief that God is a physical personality; that He is a glorified man-like creature in a far-off place called heaven? It sounds like mythology, doesn't it? In truth, is it—just that.

Before Christ, Truth, appears to a mortal, he lives in a world of myth and of mystery. He sees, as the Bible says, "through a glass darkly." The clouded lens of material sense, with its many angles, leads mortals to see and to believe in countless inverted images, grotesque "counterfeits of the one perfect God and His perfect, changeless universe. One believes the first great cause or creator to be a super-mortal governed by passions like those entertained by his fellows. Another accepts as first great cause an unintelligent, material force which begins in the lowest forms of matter and rises from non-intelligence to intelligence. One worships blindly a graven image, another the sun, another an imaginary power or influence exerted by the stellar universe over the earth and its inhabitants. Not until the truth about God and His creation is found out and accepted can one render intelligent obedience to the first commandment, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Christ, Truth, alone can awaken mortals to true apprehension of God as Spirit, divine Mind, and reveal His spiritual universe, including spiritual man. Through the clear lens of spiritual sense, the awakened mortal sees God as He is, always has been, and always will be, the divine, all-loving Mind. Then he catches a glimpse of his own true immortal selfhood, the image and likeness of the one perfect Father-Mother, God.

DR. A. E. KOENIG ADDRESSES LIONS

Takes as Topic the Balkans and Describes Complex Political and Economic Situation

TURKEY GAINS PRAISE

Miss Lois Chadbourne Sings Several Numbers, Accompaniment Played by Miss Elizabeth Johnstone

Dr. A. E. Koenig, professor of the University of Minnesota, addressed the Lions Wednesday night, using as his topic "The Balkans." The picture the doctor painted gave one the impression that the Balkan area is full of small nations anxious to assert their nationalism, politics, religion, customs, language, traditions, etc. Everybody wants the front seat and all resent the least repression.

And when it comes to a merger in just one of the Balkan states, Yugoslavia, eight small areas had to be merged and three of them were powerful enough to get in the headlines, to wit, the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes.

Dr. Koenig speaks English, German and French, and these, he said, will carry a man over most of continental Europe. In turn, the doctor analyzed the situation in Bulgaria, Greece, Turkey and Roumania. To Turkey was accorded the most praise for a progressive spirit. Outside of Finland no country has undergone such great changes since the World war. There are no more fezzes, no veils, and the old alphabet is going. A tremendous industrial metamorphosis is apparent, said the doctor.

Musical numbers of the Lions' session included soprano solos by Miss Lois Chadbourne with the piano accompaniments played by Miss Elizabeth Johnstone. Miss Chadbourne has a remarkably sweet and clear voice and her accompaniments were played in excellent manner.

Guests and visitors present included J. Herschel Hardy of Chicago; J. J. Thomas of Seward, Neb.; Arthur W. Richardson of Lincoln, Neb.; James M. Owen, manager of the Montgomery Ward & Co. store of Brainerd; E. A. Johnson, Minneapolis, district manager of Montgomery-Ward & Co.; Dr. Milton G. Brown, S. R. Adair, A. G. Trommald, John A. Hoffbauer of Brainerd; A. D. Jellison of Junction City, Kansas.

TO REVIVE CLUB

Officials of Business and Professional Women's Clubs Sounding Sentiment

Miss Pearl Braley of Winona, state president of the Business and Professional Women's club, and Miss McCarthy of Stillwater, vice-president of the club, were in the city Friday afternoon and met with a few of the former members of the Brainerd club, with an object in view of reviving the club in Brainerd.

The Misses Braley and McCarthy, who are on their vacation, met with about 20 Brainerd women at a luncheon at Archer's Friday afternoon. They gave talks showing what the work of the Business and Professional Women's club stood for, and some of the work which has been done. Mrs. Henry White gave a short resume of the work which had been done at Little Falls. Mrs. White taught in Little Falls for a number of years, and while there was a member of the Little Falls club.

Miss Kate Whiteley, Grand Forks, gave an interesting account of the international meeting at Mackinac Island, Mich., which was held in June.

Another meeting will be called the latter part of September by Mrs. Thomas Jones, at which time plans for the organizing of the club will be discussed.

REQUIREMENTS FOR WINNING HONOR

Rules Governing Competition for Camp Fire Girls Listed in Group

Any Camp Fire girl who wishes to earn the national summer honor to wear on her ceremonial gown, may do so by choosing seven of the group of ten listed below and following the rules.

1. Plan, make all necessary arrangements and conduct one meeting of your Camp Fire group during the summer vacation. Present a written account of your plans to your guardian for her approval.
2. Spend at least one week in a Camp Fire camp or help plan and take part in two all-city rallies or hikes.
3. Plan and cook one meal a day in your own home for two weeks.
4. Make a "beauty spot" in your own yard or do something for the improvement of the yard (water the lawn, cut the grass, paint the swing, make a rustic seat, etc. Spend at least six hours at this during the summer.)

N. B. If you live in an apartment, make and decorate a window box and take care of the flowers.

5. Relax completely for at least 15 minutes each day or take a nap every afternoon during a month at least.

6. Plan and conduct three backyard suppers for your family or take your family on two picnics or hikes for which you have prepared the food and made other necessary arrangements.

7. Learn a folk dance or singing game and teach it to a group of children.

8. Make a star map showing at least one constellation. Point it out to your family and tell them the story or myth of that constellation.

9. Play one game consistently until you have developed skill enough to lift you out of the "dub" class. Or if already skilled in a sport, show marked improvement.

10. Give at least one hour a week's service in your Camp Fire or Birthday garden.

10,000 BLOOMS TO BE SEEN AT SHOW

Colorful Display of Garden Flowers Expected at Show Which Opens Tuesday

AT COUNTY COURT HOUSE

Special Competition Announced Today for Professional Growers; Many to Enter

More than 10,000 blooms to be entered by growers at the sixth annual fall flower show of the Crow Wing County Garden Flower society will make that show which opens tomorrow at the court house one of the most colorful in the history of the society.

All growers of flowers in the county are urged to enter before 11 a. m. tomorrow. Judging will start at 11:30 a. m. The show will be open to the public at 1 p. m. It will continue throughout the day and Wednesday when at 4 p. m. the flowers will be sold.

A special competition was announced today for professional growers, separate from the long list of classes for amateur growers.

Among growers in the professional class expected to compete are: A. P. Cardie, Brainerd; A. J. Anderson, White Bear Lake; C. H. Smith, Fairbault; Rainbow Gardens of Farmington; A. J. Wilkus of St. Paul; Holm and Olson of St. Paul; the Brainerd

Greenhouse, Brainerd; P. A. Erickson, Brainerd.

The competition for professional growers will bring together the best growers in the northwest and make the exhibition a display of the finest flowers that can be obtained in the country.

Although the dry spell throughout the state put the flowers back considerably there were more flowers grown in Brainerd this year than ever before.

The competition is open to all growers, being not restricted to only members of the society. All growers are invited to enter blooms to make the show as complete a success as possible.

More than 200 prizes will be awarded in the amateur classes.

The object of the society is to stimulate the growth of more and better flowers in Crow Wing county.

In the show tomorrow will be seen 300 different varieties of gladioli, originations from all parts of the world, the United States, Canada, France, Australia, Germany.

There will be hundreds of various varieties of zinnias, petunias, scabiosa, calendula, sweet peas, perennials and others.

That Man Brown

EARLE BROWN, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol, was in town Friday and had a short conference with Sheriff Claus A. Theorin.

Brown, in commenting on the Elk River bandits, said he was driving through Elk River, returning home from a vacation at his cottage on Mille Lacs lake, when he saw a bunch of men standing in front of the First National bank. He was told of the bank robbery.

He summoned his patrolman, Mike Auspos, who lives in Elk River, and they started out in his car. They first drove to Big Lake and arriving there he was satisfied the bandits were not there and he turned around and retraced back to Elk River.

Driving out on a side road he came upon a car bearing the bandit license number and then the chase began. When the bandits realized they were followed, they started firing.

Brown knew he had the best of them because he was armed with a rifle. His first shot clipped the hair of a red headed bandit near the driver. The patch of hair was found in the car. Other shots went through the back of the car, the tank and the last hit Becker in the arm. Every shot hit the target.

Brown, as sheriff of Hennepin county, established a reputation for getting his man. As chief of the Highway Patrol, but acting as a private citizen, he and his patrolman quickly solved the bank robbery case.

Brown is too big a man for the State Highway Patrol. Let's give him the chance to ferret out the many murders piling up in Minnesota. Recently a man was murdered at Tamarack. Little, if any clues have been found to solve the murder of the woman near McGregor. The murderer of the little girl at Minneapolis has not been found. The murderer of the farmer and his children at Waseca has not been found. These are but recent crimes of a large list rapidly accumulating more day by day.

Why not put Brown at the head of the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension. As such he can operate more freely to solve crime problems than by heading a highway patrol where you have to excuse yourself for running down and catching a whole bandit gang.

Praise for Navigator

THE best of machinery cannot function well unless human hands exercise supervision.

In the world trip of the Zeppelin much interest centers on the dirigible and some people are prone to think all credit for the successful trip to date is due the wonderful ship and its engines.

The Graf Zeppelin is not the first dirigible. Italy sent a dirigible over the North Pole and it came to grief in the Arctic. Its commander was not equal to the emergencies.

The Shenandoah of America buckled in Midwestern area, hit a farm, broke in two and killed many of its crew.

France had a dirigible which was lost in a storm on the Mediterranean.

Thus one can call the roll of many nations and trace a record of many disasters in dirigible navigation.

The German dirigible, the Graf Zeppelin, it is true has many improvements, but greater than all is the man at the head, the intrepid, courageous, resourceful navigator, Dr. Hugo Eckener. His ability has just been demonstrated in his successful flight over Siberia close to the Arctic Circle with no map, no weather report, no data of any kind to guide him. He seems to possess the uncanny trait or ability to maneuver through or around storms. His approach to Japan attracted worldwide interest as the latest Japanese weather reports indicated typhoons raging in his path.

The complete story of the flight from Friedrichshafen to Tokio will make wonderful reading. One of the greatest things accruing from the trip will be the meteorological data gained.

It may safely be stated that the Graf Zeppelin and the Bremen, which has lately gained the speed title of the Atlantic, are two of the greatest advertising agencies of Germany and are gaining favorable comments for the Teutons in every land of the world.

Advertising Gains Recorded

BUSINESS activity throughout the United States, as gauged by the volume of newspaper advertising, is greater today than in the midsummer of 1928, according to figures just made public by Sales Management Magazine.

Newspapers of the 63 largest cities published 189,431,731 lines of advertising in June, a gain of 5 per cent over June of last year.

The figures also indicate a general high level of prosperity throughout the country with no marked regional depressions. Only 12 of the 63 cities reported a decrease in advertising, and these were widely scattered through the east, middle west and south.

Are Well Known Accountants

STRAND, ROE, JOHNSON CO., who recently examined the books of the city and also two years previously, are well known public accountants and tax counsellors of Minneapolis.

They have done work for the Farmers Cooperative Creamery and for the Brainerd Cooperative Mercantile Company.

SATURDAY was truly one of the greatest merchandising days in Brainerd and many new faces were seen. Cars were parked for blocks in all directions. The need of a large theater became apparent as soon as the stores closed. Hundreds of visitors had no place to go except home.

THERE is a demand for lakeshore homes and properties. Every home built at the lake near Brainerd adds another family to the trade territory of the city.

CAR travel in the Brainerd Lake Region is increasing and it requires greater skill and caution to drive. Automobiles travel at higher speed and the drivers on the roads entering trunk lines must exercise more caution.

The Back Door looks a little neglected, doesn't it? For one thing, the screening has rusted and fallen away in spots. Doesn't keep the flies out. And the delivery boys and the ice man have soiled the woodwork. It does look messy. It isn't much of a job to put in new netting and to paint the main door and the frame of the other. Let's get busy. Saving miles of walking

Can you imagine what shopping would be if there were no advertisements?

Suppose your list of needs included a morning dress, a pair of tan pumps, a set of those little silver salt and pepper shakers, some bath towels and a new awning for the porch. You would want each article, of course, in a particular color or shape or style; each at a price within a certain range. How would you go about finding them, with no advertisements to rely on?

Probably you would start at the "likely" stores and keep on and on, tramping up and down aisles, questioning sales people and floorwalkers, till your nerves were frazzled and your feet were sore.

Instead, you can sit down with the paper at home and find out in a few minutes just what stores are featuring the things you need. You know they will be dependable goods, at fair prices. With the advertisements as a guide you can plan your route, get your shopping done early, and have time for a movie or a chat with your friends.

Women who stay young use the advertisements

WALKER WINS 1st GAME OF CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES, 5-3

SUPPORT OF RICHMOND WAS RAGGED AT TIMES

HARKER, OF WALKER, HAD THE EDGE ALL THE WAY THROUGH

BRAINERD NOT ABLE TO PUSH RUN ACROSS UNTIL FIFTH INNING

The Brainerd Northern Pacific ball team lost the first game of the championship series to Walker by the score of 5 to 3 yesterday afternoon at the municipal field, in a pitchers' battle, with Harker having the edge all the way through, the Walker hurler receiving wonderful support while Richmond's backing was ragged at times, and costly.

For four innings Harker did not allow a Brainerd man to reach first on a hit, and it was not until the fifth that the locals pushed a run across the plate.

Walker scored in the first inning, when Munnell got life on Peterson's error, was sacrificed to second and scored on Fogelstrom's throw into left field in an effort to catch him stealing.

Brainerd tied the count in the fifth on Jarboe's triple and Ringer's single.

Walker gathered three more runs in the seventh, and Brainerd scored two more in the eighth only to fall short of tying the score.

The game was fast and interesting all the way through.

Loom played a great game at third and was all over the field, and started a double play on a line drive to top off his day's work.

Gregerson, Walker's center fielder, did a nice bit of running in the eighth to catch a long fly with the bases loaded to halt a Brainerd rally.

Brainerd plays at Walker next Sunday in the second game of the series.

Wednesday evening the locals will

63 WOMEN TENNIS STARS FACING HELEN WILLS

PLAY BEGINS AT FOREST HILLS, NATIONAL TOURNEY

FOR 5TH TIME IN 7 YEARS MISS WILLS IS DEFENDING CHAMPIONSHIP

OPPOSING FIELD IS ONE OF THE BEST SHE HAS EVER FACED

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Sixty-three of the world's finest women tennis stars challenged the supremacy of Helen Wills as play began today in the annual national women's tennis championships at the West Side club here.

Helen Wills of Berkeley, for the fifth time in seven years, is defending the championship, and the opposing field is one of the best she has ever faced.

As the first round of play started, three women stood out as most likely to prove troublesome to the California girl.

Foremost in this trio was Betty Nuthall, vivacious British star who forced Helen to two deuce sets during the recent Wightman Cup international matches on these courts.

The others are Helen Jacobs, California's second woman star, and Mrs. Proebe Watson, who is untamed only by Miss Nuthall in Great Britain.

It appears certain, on the strength of the draw, that Miss Wills must face two of these challengers before she again can claim the championship trophy.

Dopesters have figured the draw, as seeded by the committee, virtually certain to oppose Miss Wills and Miss Nuthall in the semi-final round. The other semi-final match, on the same dope sheets, would bring together Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Watson.

Mrs. Watson, it will be remembered, sprang a surprise victory over Miss Jacobs in the Wightman Cup play, hence it is likely that Miss Jacobs will point for the match with revenge the motive.

Miss Wills is not expected to have as much difficulty with Miss Nuthall as in her 8-6, 8-6 Wightman triumph. The chances of an all-California match are excellent.

The match scheduled to inaugurate the 1929 championships officially was that between Miss Ethel Burkhardt, of San Francisco, and Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Boston.

At 3 o'clock Miss Jacobs and Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., were to face each other on opposite sides of the net.

Mrs. Watson and Miss Josephine Cruikshank, of California, were to meet at 3:30.

Miss Wills opposes Miss Katherine Lawrence, of New Jersey, at 4:30 with the final match between Miss Nuthall and Miss Cecelia Riegel, of Philadelphia, scheduled for 5 P. M.

Other players who will be watched with interest during the tournament are Mrs. Molla Mallory and Mrs. Mae Sutton Bundy, two former champions who still are dangerous. Then, too, there is the youthful national girls' champion, Sarah Palfrey, of Boston, who won her first senior title yesterday at Rye, N. Y., where she beat Miss Mary Greef, of Kansas City, for the eastern turf courts championship.

Miss Greef, incidentally, is seeded No. 6 in this tournament while Miss Palfrey is merely one of the unheralded contestants.

LASOES 17 POUND PIKE IN WILSON

ROY ZIERKE MAKES THE CATCH WITHIN ONE MINUTE AFTER DROPPING ANCHOR

Less than one minute after he dropped the anchor from the boat, Roy Zierke, Brainerd merchant, had a 17 pound Northern pike on his hook and within two minutes the big fellow was in the boat, lassoed and everything.

Proof of this fish story is verified by the fact that the fish is now on display in the window of Mr. Zierke's store, Laurel Street.

Mr. Zierke caught the prize pike in Wilson Lake yesterday. As the fish was pulled into the boat the hook dropped from the pike's mouth. In its endeavor to pull free from the hook the fish had lassoed itself in the line, being held a prisoner.

THE SPORT BUG

BURNLEY 8-15

OF LATE the word endurance has become a fixture in the headlines as one airplane after another drones on for a week or more, refueled from time to time, in an effort to stay in flight as long as possible. Mere man is not nearly so durable as good machinery, yet his feats of endurance add countless bright pages to sport history.

Marathons, 6-day bike races, finish fights (now obsolete), wrestling, and scores of other muscle-wearing endeavors test the staying powers—the physical and even mental stamina—of mankind.

Late this month, during the Canadian National Exhibition, the Wrigley Swimming Marathons will be held on Lake Ontario with Toronto as headquarters of the annual classics. There will be a 10-mile race for women on August 23; and a 15-mile event for men five days later. First prize for the former will be $10,000; for the latter, $25,000. Those swims will test endurance to the utmost for even in midsummer the Ontario waters are cold and the course grueling for even the best after the first four or five miles.

What Wrigley is doing to promote distance swimming, C. C. Pyle has been doing for supermarathoning with his annual transcontinental foot races, two of which have been completed with plenty of ballyhoo and little or no profit for most of those directly concerned. These bunion derbies (as the merry scoffers call 'em) have produced at least one extremely durable foot traveler in the person of Johnny Salo, a Passaic, N. J., policeman, who won the 1929 transcontinental, and came in second last year. At Los Angeles recently, Salo teamed with Sam Richman, set a new world's record for 144 hours by covering 749 miles 698-2-3 yards in that time, defeating the next team by almost 107 miles! The Bunion Derby wonder is a physical marvel. However, Clarence DeMar, who is still winning regulation marathons occasionally when in his middle forties, is the Sport Bug's idea of the most remarkable of all modern endurance champions.

Baseball's endurance classics were, of course, the Dodgers-Braves 26-inning 1-1 tie of many seasons ago; and this year's Tigers-White Sox 21-inning game, won by the former 6-5. Both those games have been blamed for burning up some great pitching arms. Cadore of Brooklyn was never much good after that 26-inning route, and Oeschger, who went with him, faded from the big leagues rather soon. Uile of Detroit has been no so good since working so hard for that 21-inning victory against two White Sox pitchers.

Endurance tests indeed exact heavy tolls quite often.

PATROL MAKES FIRST ARREST IN COUNTY

Little Falls Man Pleads Guilty to Careless Driving, Fined $50 and Costs

TWO CARS SMASHED

Frank Eckman Drives Car Into Side of Another at Fort Ripley Sunday

The first sentence on charges brought by officers of the Minnesota Highway State Patrol in this district was recorded in municipal court this morning when Judge J. H. Warner fined Frank Eckman, Little Falls, $50, and costs on his plea of guilty to careless driving.

The arrest was made by Officers J. G. Dahl and R. F. Pottvin at Fort Ripley on highway No. 27 yesterday at 10:30 a. m.

The officers told in municipal court that Eckman had struck another car, that owned by John Cook, Fort Ripley, as it entered the highway from a side road. Both cars were badly smashed, they said.

Officer Pottvin testified he detected liquor on the breath of Eckman, the latter admitting he had taken two drinks previous to the accident.

With Eckman at the time were his brother John Eckman, who was taken to Little Falls for medical treatment and Tony Pollock, owner of the car who escaped injury.

Eckman informed the court that it was the first time he had ever been arrested. He said he had been released from a government hospital at Minneapolis two weeks ago and that he is receiving a pension of $50 a month from the government. He said he was injured and gassed in the World war.

"Careless driving will cover the majority of the minor charges although in the case of undue recklessness, reckless driving charges will be brought and prosecutions made in district court," Officer Dahl stated.

Fines from cases brought by the Minnesota Highway State Patrol will be forwarded to the state and localities will be reimbursed for their court costs. The money derived by the state will be used in the maintenance of roads.

Defective car lights will be brought to the attention of drivers who will be requested to have them repaired at the earliest possible time.

Tickets will be given by the officers for failure to have proper license plates and prosecution will be made unless corrected in a specified time.

Arrests made in Crow Wing county will be brought to the Brainerd municipal court and the Crosby municipal court. Careless driving carries a sentence from $10 to $100 or 90 days.

PULL WEEDS? NO! MAN BEATS SPOUSE

Charles Luden Fined for Hitting His Wife When She Asks Him to Pull Weeds

MARITAL PROBLEMS BARED

"He Doesn't Want to do Anything for Me," Resort Proprietress Complains

He didn't want to pull any weeds in their garden and when she put her request into the form of a command he struck her, Mrs. Ellen Luden, Gladstone Lake resort proprietress told Judge J. H. Warner in municipal court this morning in explaining why she proffered charges against her husband, Charles Luden.

The complaint charged the husband with beating his wife about the head with his fists on August 12.

"You can't squeeze blood out of a turnip, guess I'll have to take the time," Luden said when Judge Warner imposed a fine of $20 and costs for 20 days in the county jail.

The marital problems of the Ludens have been increasing of late, according to the story told by Mrs. Luden. She said she was 51 years old and that her husband was 36 years old and that they had been married three years ago. At that time, she said, he was employed as a steel worker in South Chicago and earning good wages.

"Now he doesn't want to do anything for me," Mr. Luden said. "Only last week he went to two dances while I stayed at home with a headache from the blows he gave me."

She blamed his drinking of liquor as the cause of the rift in their relations.

The Skyrocket Murder

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

CHAPTER XXXI.

AN hour later the two proceeded by cab to the ostentatiously magnificent home of Mrs. Earl St. Clair. An elaborate garden and scrolled gates shielded the house from the street and the two investigators were forthwith impressed by the luxurious taste of the wealthy resident.

Mrs. St. Clair was one of those restless souls who maintains homes in the four corners of the world, and spends her time traveling from one establishment to another. Possessed of more money than she could keep track of, her only delight was in constant motion.

A supercilious butler took the doctor's card and several moments later ushered them into the august presence of a lady who was struggling not to be fifty. She was tall and artificially stately, and she wore a gown entirely too elaborate and bejeweled for anything but royal splendor. She seemed genuinely puzzled at their visit.

"Madam," the doctor apologized, "I know you will forgive our intrusion, but the business that brings us here is urgent. You may even be grateful to us before the night is over, because we believe you are being emmeshed in one of the most notorious cases America has yet produced."

The widow seemed dazed and lost her carefully cultivated poise. "What's it all about?" she demanded, reverting to type.

"A Mr. Slater has come to see you."

"Yes." She seemed surprised. "And he has brought a jewel with him—an unusual jewel."

"Yes. How did you know? He told me it was a secret."

"Secrets," said the doctor "have a way of circulating. However, I trust that you will cooperate with the police to this extent: Will you make an appointment with Mr. Slater and then—let us keep it?"

"But I don't understand," she protested. "He came here yesterday. He said he had been sent by my friend, Mrs. Edison. And he was coming here again, when my jeweler would appraise it."

"Did you make an appointment with him?"

"No."

"Then, Madam, could you telephone him at once and say that your jeweler was with you and would he please come and bring the stone with him?"

"But why?"

"Madam, you may examine our credentials. You can call up the French police. After Mr. Slater comes here, you will know why."

"But I don't want to be dragged into any mess," she protested.

"You needn't worry about that," said the doctor. "There won't be a word mentioned of your presence."

"What is it—a robbery?"

"No—Madam. Murder."

"Mr. Slater—"

"Yes."

The woman seemed to grow pale under her rouge.

"But—Oh, that's nonsense. He's a gentleman."

"There have been gentlemen murderers," the doctor assured her. "Will you help us, Madam?"

"Why—of course, I've got to. But you'll see I'm kept out of it!"

"We promise that."

SHE picked up the telephone. She called for the Claridge.

While waiting for her number, she looked at the doctor and shook her head.

"But he seems such a charming man," she protested. "There must be some mistake. I can't believe it!"

"Mr. Slater," she said into the telephone. "Mr. Slater? This is Mrs. St. Clair. That jeweler has just come. Could you bring the stone at once? Thank you!"

"Are you sure," she turned now to the doctor, "that you have not mixed him up with someone else?"

"Positive, Madam."

"Well," she said, "I'd taken quite a fancy to him. He's got such nice manners."

"He makes a very good impression," said the doctor, "but I'm afraid you are about to see him in an unfavorable light. I don't think you'll approve of his manners in an hour or so."

An hour passed.

Marx squirmed in his chair restlessly. The doctor stared at the ceiling.

Then they heard the door bell ring downstairs. The butler brought word of the expected visitor. Mrs. St. Clair rose, evidently troubled and nervous. Marx rose, too. The doctor remained seated.

They heard soft footsteps ascending the stairs. There was a pause. Then a slight, dark, saturnine individual with pomaded black hair tightly parted in the middle entered the room.

"So sorry I'm late," he apologized to his hostess. "But I got into a deuce of a traffic jam. You know what Paris streets are like these days."

"He turned to look at the detective and the doctor."

"Marx is my name," said the inspector. "Glad to meet you, Mr. Slater."

Mr. Slater took the detective's hand and pressed it gingerly.

"Dr. Rhinewald," murmured the doctor.

"Ah, yes," said the strange Mr. Slater. "You gentlemen are the ones who are responsible for the surety men who dog my footsteps. Real reason I'm late is that I've been leading them a merry chase in taxis. Like the sport of it."

Marx was too astounded to reply. But the doctor put forth:

"We really didn't mean to annoy you."

"If that's an apology," laughed Mr. Slater, "I accept it. Mistakes will happen, even with the American police, who always get their man—or is that the exclusive prerogative of the Canadian Royal Mounted?"

Marx flushed, for the jibes rankled, but he kept his temper.

"All we wanted to know—"

"All we wanted to know," concluded Slater for him, "is whether I murdered the late Mr. Sewell. On my word of honor as a gentleman I did not." He grinned, but his mouth was hard.

"Then may I ask," begged the doctor, "how you obtained possession of the diamond which when last seen was in Sewell's safe?"

"I refuse to answer."

Then he held up his hand.

"And don't try to force me. Let me remind you that there's no earthly charge you can hold me upon. Theft—the diamond wasn't Sewell's property to begin with. You can't prove that. As far as the law is concerned, I bought it. And you'd have to get the rightful owner to prove I was receiving stolen goods, and the rightful owner lies in a Siberian grave. Oh, I've studied the legal aspects of this case, gentlemen."

"And suppose," barked Marx, "I hold you as a material witness."

"You can't hold me forever," said the imperturbable Mr. Slater, "and you can't prove anything, and it will take you quite a time to extradite me, and if I'm the humble reason for your hurried trip across, then, gentlemen, may I give it as my opinion that you've both wasted time and money."

"Any more opinions?" Marx's voice was steel.

"No, only advice. And my advice is good. Get back to America."

"We'll get back all right," said Marx, "but you're coming with us."

"I assure you I'm not. And at this stage of the game, I wish to apologize to Mrs. St. Clair for the annoyance caused her by you two gentlemen, and inadvertently by me. Now, if you want to see me, suppose you come to my hotel."

"All right," said Marx.

"Suppose you come to our hotel," suggested Marx. Slater shrugged his shoulders.

"Very well," he agreed. "As you wish."

Arriving in the suite shared by the detective and the doctor, Marx turned on Slater suddenly.

"Now—," he began, glaring balefully at Slater, "who are you, and what's the game?"

"My name is Slater, and the game's none of your damn business."

"If you was down in Police Headquarters that answer would get you a rap on the head. As it is, I can only sock you in the jaw. Want me to?"

"Go ahead," said Slater.

"Now come on," Marx softened his tone. "What's the use? We've got you. You can't do a damn thing about it. If I have to keep you here from now to Doomsday you're going to come through."

"I've nothing to come through about," Slater snapped angrily.

"The fact is I'm trying to sell that diamond. Your presence here interferes with the sale."

"How'd you get hold of the diamond?"

"I bought it from a Russian."

"Where?"

"In New York."

"What was his name?"

"I can't pronounce Russian names."

"Don't get funny."

"I've a jeweler friend. He brought the diamond to him, and this jeweler let me in on it. We went halves. I determined to go to Paris to sell it. I thought I could sell it more easily."

"Why?"

"Oh, that would require an essay. Americans in Paris spend money more readily than they do at home. They're in a more receptive frame of mind for a deal like this."

"What did you pay the Russian for the diamond?"

"Ten thousand dollars."

"Where's the Russian now?"

"Lord knows."

"Did you know that Sewell had that diamond originally?"

"No."

"Didn't you wonder how the Russian got hold of it?"

"No, I didn't. Why should I? The diamond was owned by a Russian to begin with—the czar. It seemed natural to me that another Russian should have it. I presume he got it out of his country in some way."

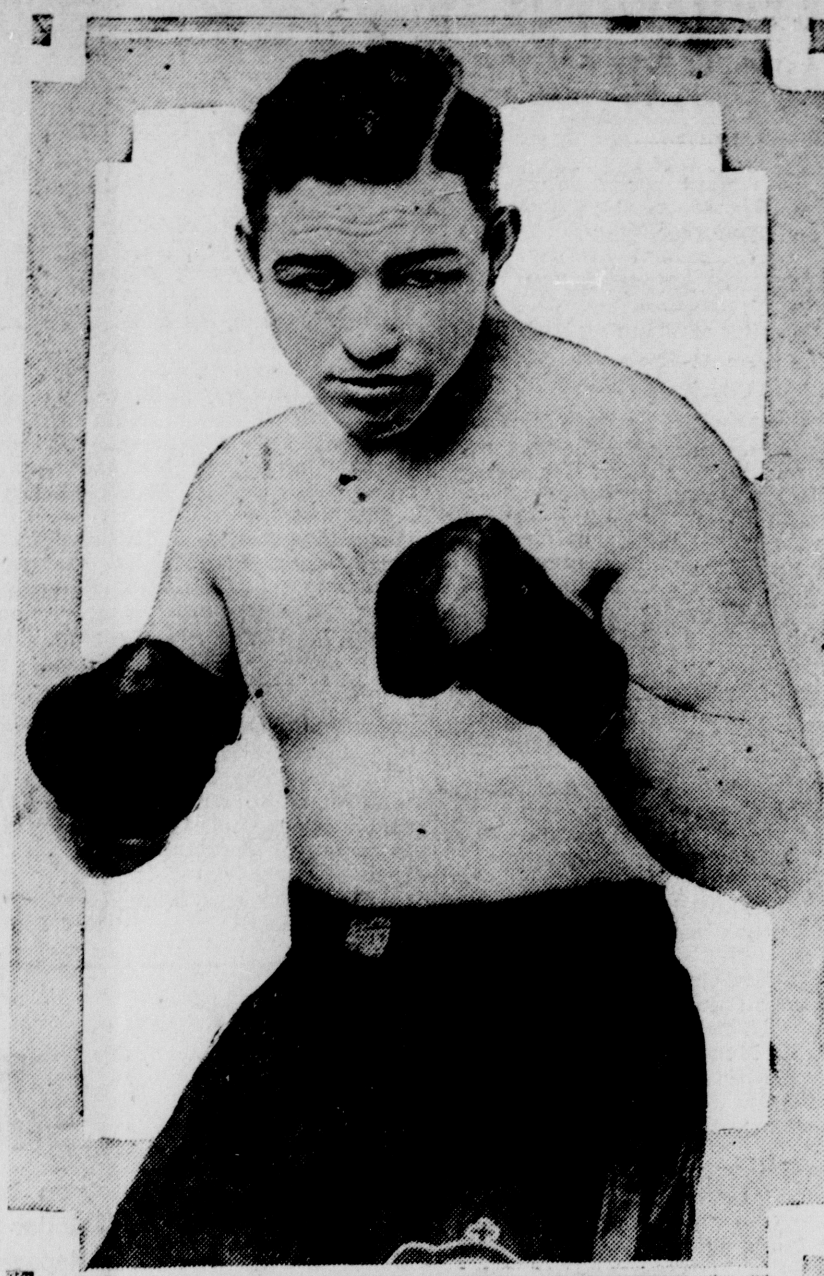

"You telling me the truth?"

"Of course. I've no reason to lie."

SMACK BEATEN BY HALF A POUND

MISSOURI WOMAN CLAIMS SHE BEAT FELLOW CITIZEN IN LARGEST FISH CATCH

C. L. Smack beaten by half a pound! A woman, Mrs. L. J. Ryer, Kansas City, claims today that she rightfully holds the honor of catching the largest wall-eyed pike in Gull lake and that her catch exceeds in weight that of her fellow citizen from Missouri. To substantiate her statement Mrs. Ryer states in a letter to the Dispatch today from her summer home at Nisswa, Minn., that the prize catch was weighed by Gust Almqvist at Pine Harbor Inn and that it now proudly hangs from the wall of her cottage.

Her letter follows: "I noticed in your paper where a C. L. Smack of Kansas City, Mo., caught a pike weighing eight pounds. I've got him beat and I am also from K. C. My wall-eyed pike is hanging on the wall of our cottage here (Nisswa), weighing eight and a half pounds. Ask Gust Almqvist at Pine Harbor Inn. He weighed it for me."

BLACK BEAR CRASHES INTO DULUTH HOTEL

Duluth, Aug. 19.—(UP)—"Front; boy show this gentleman a room."

This was a speech which was not made by the room clerk Sunday at the New Duluth hotel when a 350-pound black bear crashed through a plate glass window of the coffee shop and into the lobby.

Police were called instead and the bruin driven into town by lack of food and water during the past week, was shot dead as it started for the second floor.
